12th Annual Conference of Indian Society for Study of Lung Cancer

26th & 27th November & 3rd & 4th December 2021

Welcome Message

Dear Delegates,

Greetings from NALCCON 2021!

We take great pride in welcoming all the attendees of the NALCCON 2021, the 12th Annual Conference of Indian Society for Study of Lung Cancer, that will be organized by JIPMER, Puducherry, India. The meeting will be conducted over four evenings (November 26th & 27th and December 3rd & 4th 2021) in virtual mode considering the ongoing pandemic.

JIPMER is an institute of national importance with well-established multi-disciplinary care provided to patients with cancer. It is the primary referral centre providing state of the art cancer care to the patients of the Union Territory of Puducherry and the surrounding districts of Tamilnadu. We take great pride in organizing this meeting and assure of an academic feast with the best scholarly activity, including, but not limited to, interactive discussions, CMEs and lecture sessions covering assorted topics of Lung Cancer by eminent international and national speakers. This initiative is also dedicated to making genuine and reliable contributions to the future of budding doctors in expanding their field of interest and developing skills in various areas of lung cancer.

We sincerely hope that this conference will ensure a perfect platform for global and national networking of specialists with the same interests and come up with a proposal that will lead to the advancement of lung cancer management.

Regards,

Dr. Prasanth Penumadu & Dr. Prasanth Ganesan
